ANNEXURE I: SCOPE OF WORK

Terms of Reference/Scope of Work on developing the Model framework guidelines for non-discriminatory open access regime in Transmission and grant of open access in South Asian Countries (except India)

Background:

USAID initiated the SARI/EI program in 2000 aimed towards promoting energy security through energy cooperation and integration in the South Asian (SA) region. In its current fourth phase, the SARI/EI program, implemented by Integrated Research & Action for Development (IRADe) is focussed on advancing CBET through a consultative process involving three distinct Task Forces (TF) of member SA countries engaged in TF 1: Coordination of policies, legal and regulatory frameworks, ii. TF 2: Advancement of transmission system interconnections, and iii. TF 3: South Asia regional electricity markets.

This Terms of Reference (ToR)/Scope of Work (Sow) originates from the deliberations of TF 1: Coordination of policies, legal and regulatory frameworks, wherein CBET regulatory guidelines have been developed (http://www.irade.org/IRADe-SARI-EI-Regional%20Regulatory-Guidelines%20\(July%202015\)-.pdf-.pdf)). The objective of the guidelines is to ensure a consistent, common course of action in the decision-making and conduct of CBET transactions in SA countries.

This SoW/ToR aims to develop a model framework for non-discriminatory open access regime in transmission in South Asian countries, excluding India.

Regional Electricity Markets: Open Access:

The CBET regulatory guidelines developed by TF 1 recognizes the importance of Non-Discriminatory open access and its role for creating a Regional Power Market in South Asia. The summary of the guideline on Non-Discriminatory open access is mentioned in the Fig-1. Open access to the power grid is an essential element of introducing competition to electricity markets and increasing their efficiency. It is also key to free and fair electricity market and facilitates better integration of two or more power systems. In CBET, wherein power systems of more than one country are interconnected, non-discriminatory access to their respective transmission systems increases opportunities for any party to sell/buy electricity at a cost-reflective fee. Through open access, multiple sellers (generators) and buyers (supply or trading companies, distribution companies, and final consumers) interact in the market, relying on the services of the T&D grid. Figure-2 below indicates market segments typically found in the electricity sector and their relation to open access. In an integrated market, open access provides multiple options to sellers/buyers, leading to a more efficient sector operation, improved quality of power supply, and downward pressure on tariffs. Open access has added benefits for CBET, allowing for multiple and diverse power supply contracts that take advantage of the load and time diversity and contribute to a better utilization of resources across the region. It thus encourages private sector/foreign investments. In CBET, non-discriminatory access to their respective transmission systems increases opportunities for any party to sell/buy electricity at a cost-reflective fee and to take advantage of the load and time diversity and contribute to better utilization of resources. Cross-border transmission interconnections with freedom of access is a critical instrument of integration of the national electricity markets, or “market coupling (European Union). Open Access has been recognized through Protocols, Supplementary Acts (WAPP), Strategy Documents (GMS), Operational Manuals (SAPP).

South Asian countries: Status and Readiness for Open Access:

The SAARC framework agreement for energy cooperation (electricity)-Article 12- Transmission Access notes that Member States shall, for the purpose of cross-border trade, enable non-discriminatory access to the respective transmission grids as per the applicable laws, rules, regulations and applicable inter-governmental bilateral trade agreements. The agreement between the government of Nepal and the government of the republic of India on electric power trade, cross-border transmission interconnection and grid connectivity, commonly referred as Power Trade Agreement (PTA) mentions “Article 2 (B) The Parties shall allow non-discriminatory access to the cross-border interconnection(s) for all authorized/licensed participants in the common electricity market “.

Currently, it is only in India, Bhutan, and Bangladesh that specific provisions related to open access exist, however comprehensive framework/guidelines/regulations exist only in India, whereas Afghanistan, Pakistan, Nepal, and Sri Lanka have not yet introduced open access. India through EA 2003 has mandated open access for inter- as well as intra-State transmission lines. Any consumer above 1 MW can avail open access to the transmission as well as the distribution network. The Regulatory Commissions (CERC and SERCs) provide a facilitative framework for non-discriminatory open access through enabling regulations.

In Bangladesh, the EA 1910 and subsequent draft amendment in 2012 requires the Bangladesh Electricity Regulatory Commission (BERC) to introduce, operate, and maintain an independent, fair, and competitive market structure for the bulk trading of electricity in the country and take necessary measures to facilitate a smooth transition from the single buyer system to the open market system in consultation with the Government of Bangladesh. While the Act mandates the transmission utility, Power Grid Corporation of Bangladesh (PGCB), to provide non-discriminatory open access to its transmission system for use by any licensee or generating company on payment of the transmission charges, it also directs the Commission to issue necessary regulations in order to ensure open non-discriminatory open access by all the concerned parties to the grid system in Bangladesh. Bangladesh-policy guidelines for enhancement of private participation in the power sector, 2008 mentions that PGCB and all Distribution Licensees shall provide non- discriminatory open access, to their transmission and/or distribution system for use by any Generation Licensee subject to payment of transmission/distribution wheeling charges determined by BERC.

In Bhutan, the EA 2001 mandates the Bhutan Electricity Authority to ensure non-discriminatory open access to the transmission and distribution systems.

Task Force -1 Study : Regional Regulatory Guidelines

Guideline 2: Provision of Non-discriminatory Open Access to Transmission Network

Rationale

Open Access makes it possible to sell or buy electricity, irrespective of location of buyer/seller in the grid; subject to transparently formulated system-security constraints without discrimination and against payment of adequate fees for accessing the system.

- 1 Member countries shall coordinate setting of fair rules and procedures for non-discriminatory open access. Notification of enabling regulations in respective SAC, by working along with the national regulators and/or other empowered entities
- 2 Explicitly defined through amendment of regulations or enactment of separate regulations/orders and eventually, in the long-term legislative enablement of open access
- 3 The enactment of various provisions/regulations inter alia shall include
  - Nominating nodal agency for grant open access- Responsible for undertaking scheduling and dispatch operation as well as processing of applications filed by the applicants
  - Procedure for filing applications, application fee- Customers shall have to apply to seek access on a format to be prescribed by nodal agency giving necessary details such as capacity required, point of injection, point of drawal, duration, type of service required, average load, peak
- 3 The enactment of various provisions/regulations inter alia shall include
  - Processing of applications, priority order and criteria for grant of access- The request for transmission access shall be processed by the nodal agency in a time bound manner taking into account line loading, voltage profile, system stability etc. and ensuring that the existing loads continued to be serviced with reasonable reliability. Subject to Available Transmission Capacity (ATC), the long-term customers shall have priority over short-term customers
  - Principles with regard to non-discriminatory and transparent charges for network use- The objective in the design of the open access charges should be to recover the sunk cost of the transmission system. Further, open access customers to compensate the nodal agency for scheduling, system control and dispatch services rendered by them.
- 4 Enabling provisions for the system operators in respective countries to coordinate scheduling and dispatching of cross border flows
- 5 Eventually, in the long-term legislative enablement of open access may be considered through inclusion of non-discriminatory open access provisions in the relevant laws.

Terms of Reference Model Framework Guidelines: Open Access/Regime in Transmission and Trading Licence for both Domestic as well as for CBET/Rail/SAR/EE/IR/ADe

For CBET, India may need to extend its open access provisions in its Electricity Laws, Policy, and Regulatory framework beyond national boundaries and incorporate provisions on cross-border transactions. In an interconnected power system of South Asia with greater bilateral and multilateral trade being envisaged, it is essential that countries coordinate and formulate the relevant guidelines on open access to streamline the processes and facilitate non-discriminatory access to their respective transmission system.

Experience around the globe and in SA countries (India) suggests that opening access to the grid is an evolutionary process, not a discrete event. The basic foundations of open access are laid by establishing an initial, or minimal, open access regime through enforcing the generators' legal right to access the grid to sell their capacity and energy, and wholesale buyers' right to contract with the generators, either directly or through an authorized market operator. The institutional requirements for minimal open access include transparent rules, procedures, and protocols for grid and market operations and a financially disinterested, competitively neutral system operator. Therefore, introduction of open access should be carefully designed, keeping in view the power sector reform of each SA country and as well as keeping the perspective of cross Border Electricity Trade in south Asia.

A. Objective of the Study:

The objective of the study is to develop the model framework and guidelines for non-discriminatory open access regime in transmission and grant of open access in South Asian countries to initiate power trading and facilitate Cross Border Electricity Trade (CBET) in the region.

B. Scope of Work (SoW)/Terms of Reference (ToR):

1. Review and analyse the prevailing framework, regulations and procedures relating to open access to transmission systems in SA countries from the perspective of developing Model framework guidelines for non-discriminatory open access regime in Transmission<sup>1</sup> in SA Countries (other than India<sup>2</sup>) both for domestic as well as Cross Border Electricity Trade (CBET).
2. Review and analyse the prevailing institutional structure/arrangements for granting open access in SA countries.
3. Review and analyse the international best practices<sup>3</sup> (with particular focus on Indian<sup>4</sup> experience) on Open Access in transmission in the context of domestic power sector as well as from the perspective of CBET particularly focusing on:
  - a) Key drivers, enabling factors and barriers to open access in transmission.
  - b) Challenges associated with designing and implementation of Open Access in Transmission and key learnings.
  - c) Key ingredients/ prerequisite for open access in transmission particularly for cross border electricity trade.
  - d) Type of open access consumer licenses (long, medium and short term), eligibility, tenure, priority order, application process, nodal agency, conditions for grant of access, connectivity, relinquishment of access rights, information system and applicable charges etc. related to grant of open access.
4. Development of a proposed Model framework guidelines for non-discriminatory open access regime in Transmission and grant of open access, road map and action plan for the design and implementation of open access guidelines for SA countries to advance CBET. This would include but not be limited to:
  - a) Terms and Conditions, connectivity, eligibility, tenure, priority order, relinquishment of access rights, information system, applicable charges, nodal agencies,

<sup>1</sup>Review and analysis should focus In Particular on overall open access architecture and regime, procedure, application process, type of open access consumer licenses, designated nodal agency, eligibility, tenure, priority order, conditions for grant of access, Connectivity, Relinquishment of access rights, information system and applicable charges and other key aspects of the grant of open access etc.

<sup>3</sup>Open Access regimes from Cross Border Power trade/regional power pool/markets around world other than SA region will be reviewed and analysed.

<sup>4</sup> While focus should be on Indian experience, however international review will also include experiences from Europe, SAAP, WAPP and from other similar regional power system integrations.

- b) Procedure for grant of open access and other key aspects of the grant of open access etc. (both for domestic and cross Border Electricity Trade).
  - c) The above Suggested model framework guidelines should also include various standard formats such as i) Application form ii) Grant of Connectivity Agreements iii) Grant of Long Term/Medium Term Open Access Agreements and other required formats.
5. Global experience as well as those in India suggests that opening access to the grid is an evolutionary process, not a discrete event and therefore model framework guidelines needs to be carefully designed, considering the existing level of power sector reform and readiness towards non-discriminatory open access as well as keeping the larger perspective of Cross Border Electricity Trade. It is therefore critical that views and suggestions of key stakeholders (e.g. regulators, transmission utilities, power companies, energy ministries, etc.) are taken into consideration. To this end the Consultant is expected to organize bilateral stakeholder consultation meetings/Con-call with such stakeholders/parties of South Asian Countries in consultation with SARI/EI/IRADe. The study will take into account the Cross Border Electricity Trade Policy being developed by MoP, GoI. and the various studies being undertaken by SARI/EI Task Forces. The study will also focus on technical aspects of the open access regime.

Any logistic cost for bilateral meetings outside India i.e. international travel/accommodation charges etc. will be borne by SARI/EI/IRADe. However, any logistic cost for bilateral meetings within India will be borne by the Consultant.

C. Deliverables:

1. Submission of a draft report on key findings including the review and analysis of the prevailing practices in India and SA countries relating to open access regime, its governing & institutional arrangement etc. as emerged from the Scope of Work/Terms of Reference. This draft report will be submitted within 45 days from the date of issue of Letter of Intent (LOI).
2. Submission of draft interim report on the key findings on the review and analysis of the international experiences as emerged from the Scope of Work /Terms of Reference. This interim report will be submitted within 75 days from the date of issue of Letter of Intent (LOI).

The above Suggested model framework guidelines also includes various standard formats such as a) Application form b) Grant of Connectivity Agreements c) Grant of Long Term/Medium Term Open Access Agreements and other required formats. The above draft model framework will be submitted within 120 days (4 months) from the date of issue of Letter of Intent (LOI).
